securities (/dictionary/purchase-securities) or otherwise be withdrawn from your Base Account. The available margin collateral value will fluctuate from day to day, since it depends upon securities prices and the debit balance (/clause/debit-balance) in your Base Account, and your outstanding Check transactions received for processing. Please confer with your Provider to determine the (/clause/determine-the) margin collateral value available to cover Check transactions. Your Open-to-Buy Value will generally be equal to (/dictionary/equal-to) the sum of (/clause/sum-of) your Liquidity Value, less the amount of your outstanding Check transactions received for processing. A Check transaction which would exceed your Open-to-Buy Limit (/dictionary/buy-limit) may be rejected and not accepted for processing. Your Provider will charge interest on any (/clause/interest-on-any) margin loans made to you, or on your behalf, to settle Check transactions at the same rate it charges for (/clause/charges-for) other securities (/clause/other-securities) margin loans.
